
ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

B₁₂ An exhaust control system for a cylinder fuel injection engine having a cylinder injection injectors directly injecting a fuel into combustion chambers and a catalytic converter provided in an exhaust passage from said combustion chambers for purifying an exhaust gas, such that the air/fuel ratio in the combustion chambers is periodically made richer for quickening activation of catalytic converter.
